To Whom It May Concern:

Our practice has been in business for more than 30 years. During that time, I have been approached by many representatives from the local papers. Occasionally, I have placed an ad in those publications, but not routinely. I have done more advertising in the last six months than over the previous six years. The reason is simple, Aeron Traylor.

Aeron's genuine interest in finding the right fit for an ad for my practice and her creativity in helping to create and place those ads kept me coming back. Her warm, out-going personality makes her a pleasure to work with. We always look forward to her visits.

Having dealt with many representatives over the years, Aeron's professionalism, dedication and creativity truly set her apart from her competitors. Aeron is genuinely interested in helping my business and goes out of her way to find the perfect fit for my needs. I have never received that level of customer service before.

When you consider what makes an ideal representative for your company, I strongly recommend Aeron Traylor. She is an asset to any company she works for and any business she works with. She started out as our ad rep and has quickly become a friend and trusted advisor. Any company would be fortunate to have Aeron representing them.

Sincerely,

Dr. Russell Cox, DC
